Topic Talk

Tonight's story is about Haya and her father, Baba Jan. They spend Fridays in their garden in Paghman. The garden has many plants, vegetables, and flowers. Some of these words are countable, like tomatoes and roses, and some are uncountable, like water and soil. We use many with countable nouns and much with uncountable nouns.

1. What foods or vegetables do you grow or buy at home?
2. Do you drink much water every day?
3. How many fruits are in your kitchen now?

Reading Aloud (8-10 min)

Every Friday, Haya and Baba Jan visit their small garden in Paghman. The garden has many plants and a lot of fresh air. Haya brings a watering can and helps her father. There are a few red tomatoes and some beautiful roses. The soil is soft, and the water is cold. Baba Jan teaches Haya how to take care of the plants. He says, "Don't waste much water." Haya laughs and says, "I only used a little." When they finish, they sit under a walnut tree and drink tea together. There isn't much noise, only the sound of birds.

Comprehension questions

1. What does Haya do every Friday?
